The image shows a vertical comparison of two wall surfaces. The left side, representing the year 2013, features a wall covered in a variety of colorful, textured tiles in shades of blue, red, green, yellow, and grey. The right side, representing the year 2014, shows a wall of uniform, grey, textured tiles. The transition between the two is marked by a vertical line of white mortar.

A black office chair is positioned on a concrete surface in a desolate outdoor setting. The chair is the central focus, surrounded by dense, overgrown vegetation and a concrete ledge. The scene is captured in a cinematic style with natural lighting. A blue rectangular box with white text is overlaid on the right side of the image.
